

The Shard and the London Skyline

The Shard was inaugurated on the 1st February 2014. It is the highest Building in Europe ; it is probably going to be the new symbol of the London Skyline.

It is a construction designed by the famous architect Renzo Piano. He also created the Georges Pompidou center.

Differents stores, restaurants, a luxurious hotel, and some offices will get place in the Shard.

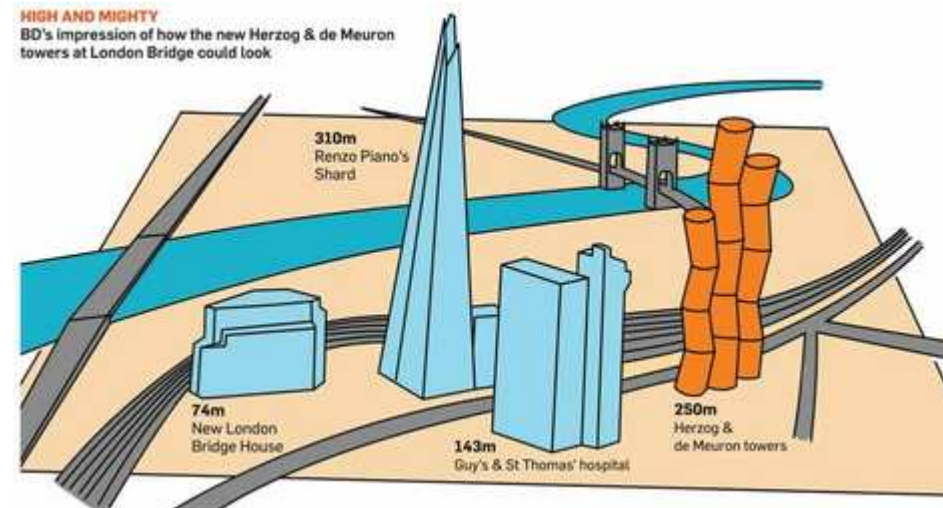

The Shard is a spectacular glass arrow of 310 meters high (a bit more than the Eiffel Tower). This Building was erected near Tower Bridge and the Globe Theater.

The Shard is 304 meters high to the roof and 309 meters high to the antenna. The last floor is 245 meters from the ground. There are 44 lifts.

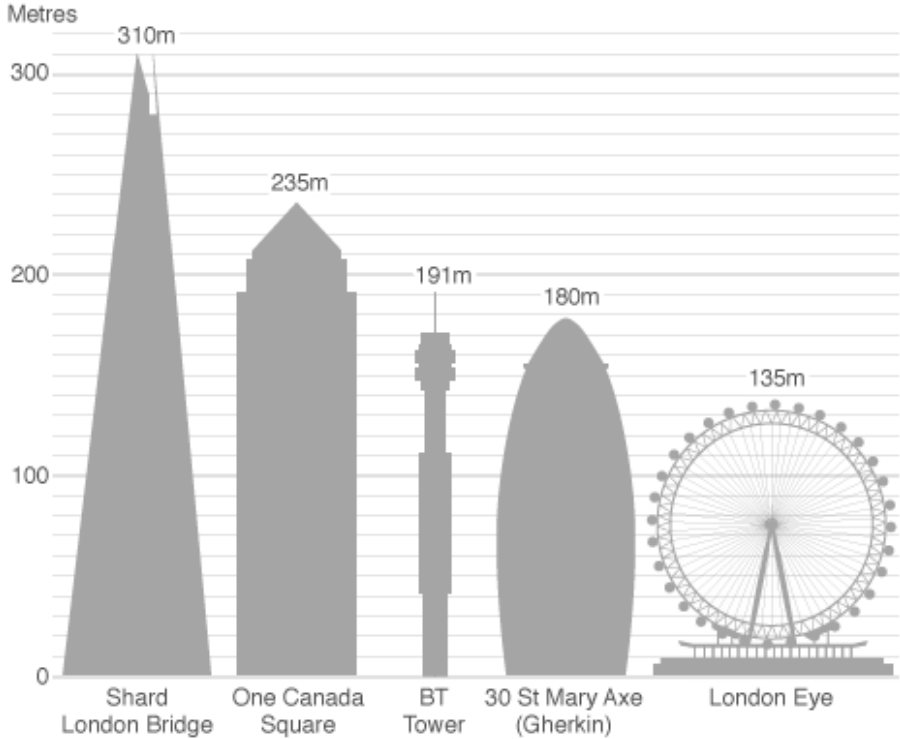

Its construction took 4 years from 2008 to 2012.
There are 72 residential floors and 95 professional floors.

New Buildings

London's iconic tall buildings

The Gherkin

This building was inaugurated in 2004

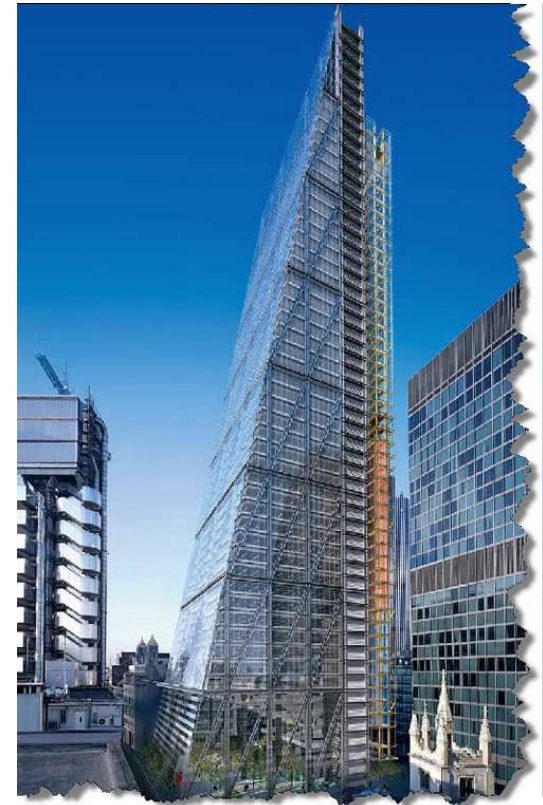

The Talkie Walkie

Its construction started in 2009 and it is expected to be inaugurated on april 2014.

The Cheese Grater

The cheese grater is still under construction. It has been finished in 2013 and its inauguration is estimated in may 2014

The Willis building or « Prawn »

It was completed built 6 years ago in 2008 and it is 125 meters high.

LONDON

FINCH & ROBIN

